

Kęstutis NAVICKAS

Professor, Doctor of technology sciences, Aleksandras Stulginskis University, Faculty of Agricultural Engineering, Institute of Energy and Biotechnology Engineering.

His main areas of interest are in Renewable Energy Technologies, Environmental Engineering and Rural Energetics. He was a coordinator and participant several National and European projects dealing with research and education in above mentioned areas. He was member of expert groups preparing National strategies of implementation of Renewable Energy and Bioenergy in Lithuania. He is a coordinator and member of the committee of study programme Energy Engineering at the Aleksandras Stulginskis University. He is member of the board of the Lithuanian Biogas association, member of the board of section of Technology of the association of Nordic Agricultural Researchers (NJF), member of the board of European thematic network ERABEE (Education & Research in Biosystems Engineering in Europe).