

Jurgita Ribinskaitė-Glatzer is a founding member of Geri norai LT. She is the head of the international organization “Reach for change” for the Baltic States. Jurgita has more than 20 years of experience in non-profit organizations, both as financiers and as project implementers. Cultural management studies and practical experience in finding both sponsors and social impact organizations have led to a deeper understanding of how organizations develop, measure and communicate social change.