

Dr. Christian Huyghe

Christian Huyghe is a PhD and post-doc in plant genetics, his scientific career is in genetics on grain and forage legumes and on grasslands. He has more than 80 scientific publications and 20 books or book chapters. Presently, Christian Huyghe is:

- Scientific Director for Agriculture at INRAE, France (a public research institute with 11.000 permanent staff);
- Chair of the scientific committee of Acta, the capping structure of all French Technical Institutes in agriculture;
- Chair of several committees providing support to national public policies (in registration of plant varieties and in reduction of pesticide use);
- Member of the Scientific Committee of the European Bio-Based Industries Joint Undertaking.